Sir / Madam,

Sub: ELECTIONS - Bye-election to Tamil Nadu Legislative Assembly from 139.Srirangam Assembly Constituency -
Government Servants desirous of contesting elections
- Resignation letters - Processing of.

I am directed to inform that the Election Commission of India has announced on 12.01.2015 the poll schedule for the Bye-election to Tamil Nadu Legislative Assembly from 139.Srirangam Assembly Constituency. Law does not prohibit any Government servant, employee of Government Undertaking, Quasi-Government organization or employee who draws his salary / wages from Government exchequer, from contesting the election, provided he resigns his job before filing nomination. Government servants may, therefore, opt to resign if they wish to contest the elections. The instructions issued on the subject during the earlier elections are reiterated for ready reference, if any such situation arises.

2. As soon as a Government servant tenders his resignation for the purpose of contesting the above elections, the authority concerned should take a decision, without any delay whatsoever, either on accepting the resignation or rejecting it and communicate the decision to the Government servant in writing, after following the due procedures.

3. Only under the following circumstances, a Government servant's resignation can ordinarily be rejected:-

- i) If he has any contractual obligation to serve the Government for a specific period;
- ii) If Government dues are pending recovery from him;
- iii) When the person is under suspension from service;
- iv) When a disciplinary case is pending or contemplated against him;
- v) When an enquiry or investigation is pending or contemplated against him in the Directorate of Vigilance and Anti-corruption;
- vi) If his resignation letter contains any conditions and is not an unconditional one.

In all other cases, the resignation must be accepted and communicated to the Government servant promptly to enable him to file his nomination in time. Any undue delay in taking and communicating the decision may lead to legal problems.

4. The above instructions should be brought to the notice of all Heads of Departments / Undertakings under your control. It may be ensured that there is no delay in the processing of cases of Government servants who intend to contest.

Yours faithfully,

17/1/2015

for Chief Electoral Officer &
Principal Secretary to Government.
